

A photograph of a courtyard with a wooden table and chairs, a sofa, and a building facade with columns and a window. The scene is set in a courtyard with a light-colored stone or concrete wall. On the left, there is a large window with a classical pediment and flanking columns. In the center, a dark wooden table is surrounded by matching wooden chairs and a sofa. The sofa has white and grey cushions. The table is set with a small potted plant, water bottles, and some papers. To the right, there is a small tree and another window with a metal grille. The overall atmosphere is bright and airy.
